THE PROBLEM

Most APC referrals are not caused by lack of knowledge

They happen because technically capable candidates cannot demonstrate what they know in the format assessors require. Counsellor support is valuable — but it rarely addresses this gap specifically.

Evidencing gaps, not knowledge gaps — Candidates describe their work rather than evidence professional judgement. Get Chartered AI teaches the specific structure assessors score.

No structured mock interview practice — Most candidates arrive at final assessment having never answered a probing follow-up question under pressure. The 60-minute AI simulator changes that.

Counsellors cannot be available 24/7 — Michael — the AI Tutor — is available whenever your candidates need it, not just during counsellor sessions.

THE COMMERCIAL CASE

A referral costs your firm significantly more than cohort access

Every referral extends a candidate's training period by at least 6 months — with associated salary, supervision time and delayed productivity. Cohort access costs a fraction of that for your whole cohort. Firms that invest in structured APC preparation see higher first-time pass rates, shorter time to chartership and stronger retention of candidates who feel supported.
